

PODCAST

The Evolving Dynamics of Next-Generation Philanthropy

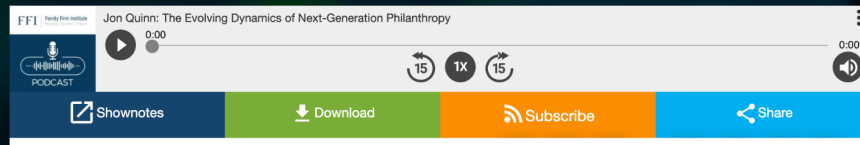

WEEKLY EDITION • NOVEMBER 9, 2022

From FFI Practitioner

FFI Practitioner is pleased to invite Jon Quinn, Deputy Director at Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors, to discuss the factors contributing to the rising generation's philanthropic goals and decisions. In recent years, the Covid-19 pandemic, a worldwide reckoning with racial injustice, and increased political polarization have transformed the dynamics of "next-generation philanthropy."

Sidebar

If you enjoyed this podcast interview, check out these related articles about philanthropy and engaging next generation family members:

"Engaging the Next Generation for Effective Family Philanthropy"

by Karen Carlson

READ MORE

"To Empower Members of the Next Generation, We Need to Answer Their Questions"

by Peter Jaskiewicz, Sabine Rau, and Katrina Barclay

READ MORE

"Talking Across Generations: Philanthropy as a Communication Tool"

by Susan Winer

READ MORE

ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTOR

Jon Quinn joined Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors in May 2014 and is based in the Chicago office. He works with individual, family, institutional, and corporate donors across the Midwest, around the country, and around the world. He can be reached at jquinn@rockpa.org.

INTERVIEWER: Jordan Rich is celebrating a quarter century at one of America's top legacy radio stations, interviewing thousands of celebrities, authors, actors and interesting personalities throughout his career. Jordan is co-owner of Chart Productions Inc, and also teaches voice-over acting. His main focus these days is in podcast creation and production, featuring conversations with the world's most creative people.